

HEALTH AND SAFETY POLICY

It is the policy of Corsair Logistics to provide the highest degree of health and safety protection for its employees. Our health and safety program has been established to control accidents, minimise employee injuries, to reduce the cost incurred as a result of all accident related losses and educate staff on health related illnesses. The strength of the Company depends on each individual to participate in the health and safety program.

To achieve the highest degree of health and safety, all employees must make a personal commitment to the program. The active participation includes:

- Striving for excellence in all our operations and exceeding customer's expectations.
- Preventing injury to our staff and loss of, or damage to, our assets.
- Promoting the safety, health and well-being of staff and members of the public affected by operations.
- Providing training and development to all staff members.
- Ensuring that every staff member takes appropriate care of his/her own health and safety, as well as that of fellow workers or any other person who may be affected by his/her actions at work.
- Encouraging all staff members to report non-conformance and potential incidents to their manager or supervisor.
- Protecting the environment.
- Monitoring activities, coordinating and integrating processes in SHEQ management to ensure continuous improvement.
- Complying with all statutory requirements, codes of practice, as well as company rules and regulations in all areas of operation.
